Manchester Cleaning Show 2016

6 and 7 April 2016 • Event City, Manchester

The Manchester Cleaning Show - being staged at Event City, Manchester on 6 and 7 April 2016 - is a launch event and follows the same exhibition and free conference format of its parent Cleaning Show, held in London every two years. The event is organised by BCCE Ltd, a company jointly owned by the British Cleaning Council and Quartz Business Media. Reception to the new, northern spin-off has been remarkable, with a fantastic level of pre-registered attendees confirmed.

Steve Diprose, managing director of Quartz Business Media, said: "We moved the Cleaning Show from Birmingham to London last year and had one of the best events in recent history, with fantastic support from the industry and thousands of high-level decision makers attending. We did, however, notice that some of our regular visitors from the north west, north east, and Scotland found the travelling distance more difficult. So we have listened to feedback from the industry and created a new event in Manchester. We have been delighted with the response, with hundreds of professionals confirming their attendance within the first few weeks of us announcing registration was open. It's a sure sign that this new Cleaning Show will be another fantastic opportunity for networking and doing business and we look forward to seeing everyone in April."

A full list of exhibitors, together with an overview of what they do and what they will be showing at this event, is included within this guide. There will be a huge range of products on display and many discounts for those looking to purchase products and equipment for their cleaning and hygiene needs.

Page 24 of this Show Guide also features details of the two-day, FREE to attend seminar programme - a must for anyone serious about the business of cleaning.

Window Cleaning Competition

Sponsored by Unger, the Window Cleaning Competition is a lively and fully interactive feature of the Manchester Cleaning Show. The existing world record holder, Terry 'Turbo' Burrows, will be on hand to offer tips and advice for all those attempting to rank at the top of the leader board each day. There are five Manchester Cleaning Show hampers up for grabs containing a range of goodies, including an HD Kindle Fire.

Helping the Alzheimer's Society

Visit the BCC stand (A24) and donate to the Alzheimer's Society for a chance to win a bottle of the Speaker - John Bercow's - House of Commons whisky, signed by the BCC's parliamentary supporter, Jim Fitzpatrick.

The draw will take place at 3pm on 7 April.

Welcome to the Manchester Cleaning Show 2016

Simon Hollingbery, chairman of the British Cleaning Council.

I'd like to extend a warm welcome to everyone attending the 2016 Cleaning Show in Manchester. It's the first time we've held an event like this in the north of England and, if all goes well, I'm sure it won't be the last.

This new regional exhibition was made possible by the success of the London Cleaning Show, held last year at ExCel. The show in London's docklands exceeded all our expectations and the feedback we received from both delegates and exhibitors was so positive that we felt there was potential to do something extra, in the year between the main London event. It wouldn't be feasible to hold a big show in London every year and, besides that, a number of BCC members are based north of Watford. For this reason, organisers - Quartz Business Media and the British Cleaning Council - hit upon the idea of holding a smaller cleaning show in Manchester. And it looks like it was a very wise decision as early visitor registrations are high, and all the signs point to it being another first class event.

Event City itself is a fantastic venue, with plenty of free parking. I'm looking forward to seeing the exhibitor stands, as last year at ExCel I saw some of the brightest and most creative I've ever seen at a trade event.

The British Cleaning Council has organised a number of keynote speakers and free seminars that everyone is welcome to attend, and these will take place over the two days. Kicking off the presentations is Andreas Lill, director of the European Federation of Cleaning Industries. He'll be giving a very topical and unique insight into the UK cleaning industry's relationship with Europe, and I'm sure the pending EU referendum will be high on the list of questions for Andreas.

In addition to the keynote speeches and free seminars, the first day of the show will see the announcement of the 'Cleaning Operative of the Year Award,' run by the ABCD and Denis Rawlins Ltd.

So everything is set for another great Cleaning Show that will showcase the very best of our industry. I'm sure it will be a very enjoyable occasion for everyone attending, and I hope to see many of you there visiting the British Cleaning Council stand.

Steve Diprose,
managing director of Quartz Business Media.

On behalf of the exhibitors and Quartz Business Media, I am delighted to welcome you to the first Manchester Cleaning Show, the sister event to the highly successful Cleaning Show staged every two years in London.

Once we had analysed attendee data following last year's Cleaning Show in London, it became clear that targeted visitors from several regions of the UK didn't make the journey south. We were determined, therefore, to create a show for those interested parties that didn't visit the London event. And here we are - one year later - in Manchester.

I am delighted that this new event has received such strong support from the industry, ensuring that it will be a valuable showcase for the most important cleaning industry innovations impacting the UK market this year. On all stands, exhibitors will be demonstrating the very latest products, systems and services, providing you with the best opportunity to discuss your requirements and challenges with suppliers and manufacturers from all sectors of the industry.

The excellent facilities of Event City - and representatives from Quartz Business Media - are at your disposal. I trust you will find your visit rewarding, profitable and enjoyable.

Again, a very warm welcome to the show - I encourage you to make the most of the exhibition and our free, first-class seminar programme.
